CAMP MARIST GENERAL INFORMATION

Welcome!

Choosing the right camp for your child is an important task. While many camps may have similar activities and facilities, we believe that the Camp Marist experience is unlike any other. Based in the White Mountain Lakes region of New Hampshire, Camp Marist is a special place where children learn about character, leadership and community. Under the leadership of the Marist Brothers for over 75 years, an international Catholic teaching order, Camp Marist has helped campers develop strong self-esteem, learn new skills and make lifelong friendships and memories.

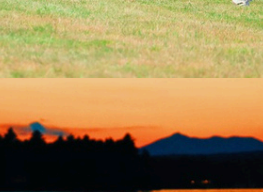

As an international co-ed camp, with campers and staff from different parts of the world, Camp Marist has a strong tradition of building a sense of global community – or the Camp Marist Family. A welcoming place for children to learn about other cultures, Camp Marist is a fun-filled environment that fosters personal growth in faith, mind, body and friendship through challenging and educational activities. Our global alumni group, made up of former campers and staff, is a testament that the Camp Marist Experience is something that stays with you long after the last sunset of the summer.

TRAVEL & VISA

Transportation Scenarios

Ensuring a smooth start helps set the tone for your camper's entire session. Those first moments filled with both excitement and uncertainty can be challenging, even for returning campers adjusting to new cabin mates, bunks, and counselors. The following guidelines are designed to make arrival day predictable and stress-free.

Arriving by Car

Camper check-in is from 11am to 3pm, and we cannot accommodate early arrivals due to staff preparation. Parents are welcome to briefly meet the cabin prefect and help their child settle in.

Arriving by Bus/Van

If you've signed up for bus transportation, you'll receive detailed instructions the week before arrival. Camp uses 15-passenger vans, and the camp experience often begins right on the ride as new friendships form. Pack a simple lunch or snack and a resealable drink, and be sure all luggage is clearly labeled. Staff will help campers with their belongings upon arrival.

Arriving By Plane

Camp staff pick up campers at Boston Logan Airport throughout arrival day. Independent flyers are met at a designated point and stay with staff until all arrivals are gathered for the 2.5-hour trip to camp. For safety, flights must arrive between 10:00 AM–8:00 PM and depart between 11:00 AM–8:00 PM.

VISA

For our international families, please be aware that entry into the United States may require a visa depending on your home country. It is the sole responsibility of parents or guardians to complete all necessary immigration procedures and ensure that your child's visa is fully approved before traveling. We strongly recommend beginning the process early to avoid any delays that could impact your camper's arrival.

FREQUENT QUESTIONS 1

Why do parents and campers choose Camp Marist?

We are proud of the strong international community we've built of parents, campers, staff and alumni.

Who are the Camp Marist campers?

Camp Marist campers travel from areas as local as Conway, NH, and countries as far as Scotland and China. We have always had a strong connection to our community and regularly see campers from the U.S., Mexico and Canada. Our diverse population is one of our greatest strengths, and it is a great opportunity for campers to learn about different cultures and languages and discover how much we all have in common.

Who are the Camp Marist staff?

Camp Marist is unique in that it has a large number of professional adult educators and Marist Brothers who have been working at camp for the past few decades. In addition to our experienced veteran staff, we employ an internationally diverse range of college students and young adults to run our activities and bond with our campers as role models.

What happens if it rains?

With over 75 years of experience, Camp Marist is well-versed in the ways of New England weather. While most of our regular activities typically take place outside, we have created a variety outdoor covered spaces for campers to gather and participate in the event of a light rain. During the occasional downpour, campers are happy to enjoy the comforts and well-stocked amusements of their cabins.

What happens if a camper gets sick or injured?

At Camp Marist, we take health and safety of our campers and staff very seriously. Our professionally trained and licensed nurses assist campers with everything from daily medicines and safe sun protection to any potential injuries and illnesses. To learn more, visit our health and safety page.

How are new and homesick campers supported?

Missing home is a normal and natural part of overnight camp, especially within the first few days of a session. The Camp Marist population is comprised of a healthy combination of new and returning campers, and we pride ourselves on going “beyond the name game” in order to get to know each other. Staff are trained to guide returning campers into fostering a welcoming and inclusive atmosphere. The first few days of each session is focused on themes of getting involved, community building and orientation. Our counselors support the message of trying new things and making new friends. Most homesick campers are “cured” within the first two days of arriving, and they are most often the campers that are equally sad when it is time to say goodbye to their new Camp family.

FREQUENT QUESTIONS 2

How can I stay in touch with my camper?

Following our philosophy of unplugging and “Be here Now,” Camp Marist campers are asked to leave their phones at home. Since some campers need to bring their phones with them while they are traveling to and from camp, there is a secure and locked place available for any camper phones that are brought on property. However, just because they are enjoying the beauty of New Hampshire, doesn’t mean they are off the grid, learn more about keeping in touch with your Camper.

We print all notes and messages sent through the camp’s digital platform each morning and distribute them with the regular mail. Your message will be delivered to your camper within 24 hours. Additionally, Camp Marist employs full-time photographers to help capture some of the activities and events that happen each day. Photos are uploaded to each evening for parents and family members to view these photos in a secure online setting.

What should I bring to camp? How is laundry handled?

Reviewing our recommended packing list is a good place to start when thinking about what to pack for Camp. Campers should mark all articles of clothing with their name.

Luckily, Camp Marist is fortunate to have two full-time staff members who lovingly take care of all our laundry. Each cabin is assigned one “laundry day” per week. Campers collect and send out their dirty clothes before breakfast, and their clean clothes arrive in a folded pile sometime before lunch.

Does my camper need spending money?

Campers typically request around $50 per week in spending money. Camp runs a small store where Camp Marist clothing and treats are sold during arrival/departure days as well as some rest periods. If campers sign up for any of the Specialty Trips, they may want a bit more spending money, depending on the nature of the adventure.

What will my child get out of camp?

Camp Marist helps children grow in meaningful and lasting ways. Through our program, campers become more independent and resilient, build friendships, and strengthen social skills. They learn from positive adult role models while developing new athletic, artistic, and outdoor living abilities. Campers also deepen their understanding of faith, religion, and spirituality all within an environment that prioritizes physical and emotional safety, genuine enjoyment, and personal growth.

FREQUENT QUESTIONS 3

Who will supervise my child?

At Camp Marist, we assign adults to supervise the cabins at night. Our adults are teachers, parents, or selected college age students. Each cabin has a prefect who is the primary adult overlooking the boys or girls assigned to the cabin. Prefects are not assigned activity periods during the day so that they are freed to assume their important duties. Our larger camper cabins have four staff rooms included within the cabin, while our two cabins for the younger campers have a living area for married couples. Other counselors are assigned to spend time in the cabins in the evenings before lights out to help supervise as well.

Are the staff trained to work with camp age children?

Camp Marist is unique. Many of our staff are teachers with college degrees and certification – they come from schools in the States as well as Marist schools throughout the world. We hire college students with specific training in activities. Our overall staff to camper ratio is 1 to 3. Camp Marist requires all staff to take part in a Staff Development week prior to the start of camp. We also have weekly staff meetings to continue training. We require all staff to have background checks, recommendations.

What religious activities take place at Camp?

Each Sunday evening we have a Church Service for the entire camp community which is held either in our beautiful camp chapel or occasionally at the beach. We begin and end each day with a prayer at the Mound, our central gathering place. Cabin Prefects say an evening prayer before lights out and offer a short recap of the day.

What medical services do we offer?

Camp Marist has two or three registered nurses on duty 24 hours a day. They can be found in the Health Lodge which has an examination room and bedrooms for campers needing special rest and/or medical treatment. Huggins Hospital is about 20 minutes away and we have a good working relationship with a local Medical Treatment Center. All cabins have phones so prefects can contact nurses if needed.

Can we visit our child at camp?

Yes! Camp Marist allows parents to visit any time. We like this system since you will see camp as it really is. It is a good idea to call ahead to make sure your child is not off the campus on a special trip.
